COLLEGE COURSE RECEIVES AWARD

The Good Schools Guide, an independent directory of UK schools and colleges, has given Yeovil College an excellence award for one of its Aerospace Engineering courses.

The Good Schools Guide, which describes itself as written by parents for parents, gave Yeovil College the 2007 award for Boys taking Aerospace Engineering at BTEC National Certificate level in an English School.

Ralph Lucas, Editor of the Guide, said "We make these awards on the basis of results, and in particular on the basis of the popularity of each subject relative to similar schools, and the success that pupils achieve relative to the other examinations that they take. Our aim is to highlight excellent teaching in individual subjects."

Andy Davidson, Head of Engineering and Science, said "We were very pleased to receive this award. Yeovil College is noted for its excellent Engineering courses, which are now provided from purpose-built rooms in the new Leonardo Building. This award is particularly special as it comes from an independent, parent-driven publication."
